Mennonite Spiritual Directors List is a directory of Mennonites in the United States (including three internationals) who are qualified and available to offer the ministry of spiritual direction. Fundamentally a ministry of prayer, spiritual direction is a one-with-one relationship in which directors accompany others on their journey to mature faith in Christ

Compiled by Mennonite Church USA Executive Leadership, the directory includes names of persons who have been recommended by area conference, district and denominational leaders. Each individual has provided information regarding training and availability. In addition, a letter of reference has been supplied by their congregation or area conference indicating they are in good standing with their congregation. These persons have also committed themselves to the ethical standards of Spiritual Directors International, which can be seen at www.sdiworld.org/publications/guidelines-ethical-conduct.

Although Mennonite Church USA Executive Leadership does not officially license spiritual directors, we trust the congregations and conferences which have submitted these names. Further information about these persons may be obtained from the schools where they have received training. In addition to offering spiritual direction, many in this directory are also willing to lead spiritual retreats for small groups, congregations, or area conference leaders. Individuals seeking spiritual direction or groups wanting a retreat leader may write or call persons on the list for further information.

This document includes: a) a geographic index by state for locating a director near you; b) an alphabetical listing of directors, with information on their training, level of experience, availability for retreats, and contact information; and c) a document describing spiritual direction, with suggestions on how to find a director, provided by the Steering Group of Mennonite Spiritual Directors Network.

Mennonite Spiritual Directors Network is an association of colleagues who periodically gather for times of retreat, learning, and connecting with each other. Further questions about spiritual direction or about the network can be sent to members of the Steering Group:

What is spiritual direction?

Spiritual Direction

The work of spiritual direction is to pay attention to God's movement in your life. Sometimes called "spiritual guidance" or "spiritual companionship," spiritual direction is a confidential relationship in which you receive help in noticing and responding to God. The true director is always God's Spirit. Usually individuals meet one-to-one with a director. Some relationships are long-term; others are short-term as individuals seek guidance for specific decisions or experiences. Some people prefer to meet with a small group designed for group spiritual direction. Because God works in and around us, a central question in spiritual direction is how to pay attention to the stirrings of God. The spiritual director listens for God's movement in your life, asks questions, makes observations, and offers suggestions. You are always free to respond to God's initiatives in whatever way you choose.

Who can benefit from this ministry of spiritual direction?

- Anyone going through a time of discernment, that is, trying to ascertain the what, when, where, how, who, and why of God's leading;
- Anyone going through a dry spell in their spiritual walk, who may be feeling disconnected from God or spiritually unmotivated;
- Anyone going through a difficult time and yearning for God's healing mercy and grace;
- Anyone wanting to deepen his or her relationship with God and to move toward a greater depth of spiritual maturity.

What spiritual direction is not:

**Spiritual direction is not psychotherapy or counseling.* Some people meet with both a therapist and a spiritual director, but the work of each is distinct.

**Spiritual direction is not career counseling.* Some people meet with a spiritual director to discern God's vocational call, but the director does not offer advice or evaluate skills and talents.

**Spiritual direction is not financial counseling.*

Questions to consider in spiritual direction:

- 1) What is happening in my life that is occupying my attention or distracting me from God?
- 2) What feelings are being triggered in me by what's happening?
- 3) What is influencing my beliefs about God, myself, and others?
- 4) How does God feel about me and my lament?
- 5) What does God want to do in me?
- 6) How am I responding to God and what God desires to do in me?
- 7) How can I better respond to God?

Group spiritual direction:

Spiritual direction in a group is a process in which individuals meet together on a regular basis to help one another in growing awareness of God's presence throughout life. The individuals seek support for their listening and responsiveness to God and they agree to support others to do the same. Some directors are available to provide group spiritual direction.

Finding a spiritual director:

Some people find a spiritual director through referrals from their pastor, congregational lay leaders, or a trusted friend. Other people find a director by a list like this one.

Consider the following when seeking a spiritual director:

**Location:* Do you want to meet with someone monthly? Then consider meeting someone who lives near you. If you want to meet with someone quarterly, then someone at a distance might be appropriate. Some spiritual directors offer direction at a retreat center—do you want to experience a day retreat that includes meeting with a director?

**Gender:* Some people want to meet with a director that is the same gender as themselves. Some directors only work with one gender, while others are open to all.

**Training:* Meet with someone who has received spiritual direction training either through a seminary program or a certificate program.

**Fees:* Many directors expect payment when meeting with a directee.

Spend time praying for guidance and wisdom as you search for a spiritual director. Trust that God will lead you as you seek.

Contacting a potential spiritual director:

*Ask if the director is available to meet with a new person.

*Ask if the director has specific days or times to meet with people.

*Ask about their training and experience.

*Ask about their fee expectations.

The initial meeting with a potential spiritual director:

Many spiritual directors offer a first meeting for free as a way for you and the spiritual director to see if the two of you might work well together. Pray for God's wisdom before the meeting and trust the nudging of the Holy Spirit when you are with the spiritual director.

Consider the following:

*Do you feel at ease with this person?

*Ask the director to describe a session.
