

CHURCH PLANTING BEST PRACTICES

UNSUSTAINABLE PRACTICES	SUSTAINABLE PRACTICES
Fully fund every church plant	Train church planters to raise funds or tents makers or both
Require seminary training for every church planter	Multiply trainers in the field
Provide a coach for every church planter	Equip established church planters to coach the next wave of church planters
Provide long term subsidies for struggling church plants	Allow churches to take responsibility
Parenting churches take responsibility for the budgeting and administration of the church plant	Empower church plants to set up their own systems
Centrally plan and coordinate where and when churches are to be planted	Expect churches and church planters to seek God, do the research and multiply churches wherever there is need.
Start a church	Multiply churches
A denomination that is solely responsible to identify and recruit church planters.	Every church planter trains apprentices for future church plants.
Satellite are depending forever on the sending church.	Satellite congregations graduate quickly to interdependence and become multiplying hubs
A movement that is held together by a tight organizational systems of control	A movement that is held together by a common cause and relationships

Source: Movements that Change the world. Steve Addison

Adapted by Mauricio Chenlo